

SOUTH ASIAN BOOKS IN SERIES:

SANSKRIT, PRAKRIT, AND PALI

The University of Chicago Library has received grants of $262,650 from the National Endowment for the Humanities and $241,310 from the United States Department of Education for two-year projects to microfilm brittle books on classical and ancient India. The 7,500 titles to be microfilmed are among the most important books covered in the forthcoming South Asian Books in Series: Sanskrit, Prakrit, and Pali, a bibliography in preparation at the University of Chicago Library. Under the NEH grant 4,000 series publications held in the internationally recognized South Asian collections at the University of Chicago and Harvard College Library will be preserved. The Department of Education grant will support microfilming or acquisition of 3,500 books not currently held by U.S. libraries. Much of the reprographic work for the second grant will be done at the British Library, especially at the India Office Library. Books covered by the two projects include texts and treatises on art, architecture, medicine, mathematics, law, literature, and the religious literature of Hinduism, Buddhism, and Jainism.
